Happenings at ICP+P Leslie Kent

In September, ICP+P kicked off our 2016-2017 academic year with our annual Pot Luck/Town Hall Meeting. There was wonderful food and fellowship, old friends and new faces, and some creative brainstorming about future directions for our organization. Then on Friday, September 23, we started our exciting, year-long Institute on Embodying the Unspoken Self. Our pre-conference program was led by member Betty Ann Kaplan on a particular application of attachment principles called the Circle of Security Intervention, designed to help parents bond with their children for their optimal development. On Saturday, September 24, we had our first full-day conference for this Institute, with one of our favorites, Beatrice Beebe, presenting more of her fascinating and important research on attachment.

It was a sold-out event with many local clinicians attending and some from far away as well. I sat at a lunch table marked as a "Welcome" table—a new outreach initiative for ICP+P—for new members, visitors, or anyone wanting to be greeted and actively welcomed. I met a friendly conference participant from Chicago who will be attending all four of the Institute offerings. Over lunch, she remarked about how warm and welcoming our group is. She also had noticed on our website that we have many study groups and was surprised at the number and variety of groups. We are so pleased with all the interest in ICP+P study groups, and view them as an integral part of our organization.

Scientific Day Conference

This is a biannual celebration of the scholarship and creativity within our membership. It is an opportunity to learn from each other, both from the talks presented and from the discussions they stimulate among our audience
members.

Saturday, January 28, 2016

passed, I want everyone to know that we still have some openings in a few of our study groups! Members can sign up for an open study group at any time in the two-year cycle.
The following groups have one or more spaces
still open:

1. Creative Writing (Leader: Jeffrey Jay)
2. Early Career Professionals' Study Group
(Leader: Roger Segalla)
3. Intensive Short Term Dynamic Psychotherapy Study Group (Leader: Margo Silberstein)
4. Mindfulness and Psychotherapy
(Leader: William Harmon)
5. Pre-Institute Study Group (Leader: Wendy Berns)
6. Developmental Studies and All Things
Clinical (Leader: Joe Lichtenberg)
7. Psychodynamic Readings of Literary Fiction (Leader: Deborah Curry)
8. Self Psychology and Selected Readings in Contemporary Theory (Leader: Mary Jean Kane)
9. The Science, Art, and Application of Psychotherapy Integration (Leaders:
Stephen Stein and Oksana Zadoro) (This group requires an interview.)

Note: Both Joe Lichtenberg and William Harmon discuss a prospective member's experience level before acceptance into the group (although William tries to include a range of experience levels together in his new group).

If you would like to spend a rewarding hour or two, once a month, reading, talking with and getting to know some ICP+P members as part of one of these groups, please contact our coordinator of study groups, Etta Sandler, at (202)338-6051, or etls17@verizon.net.

Alternatively, we are always open to new study groups. If you think you might be interested in hosting a study group, it is easier than you think! Again, please feel free to contact Etta Sandler (contact info above) to talk about how you might host a study group. It's a great way to expand your professional horizons, network and consult with ICP+P clinicians, and explore areas of professional interest.

Note from the Editor

Jonathan Lebolt

Dear ICP+P'ers,

Many of us had the pleasure of attending the first conference in our Institute on Embodying the Unspoken Self. Beatrice Beebe on Infant Research and Adult Treatment on September 24. Watching how mothers related to their infants through videotaped micro-interactions, and learning how their responses shaped attachment styles in both positive and negative ways, was deeply moving, as was the chance to role play interactions in a small experiential group. Beebe presented a case of an adult with a history of trauma, who was referred to Beebe as a consultant, because she would not look at her analyst's face. She was, however, able to look at Beebe's face on video, which began a poignant and powerful healing process.

This month is the IAPSP conference in Boston-it's not too late to register! November brings members of ICP+P a free conference on Developmental Psychotherapy across the Lifespan: Integrating Child-Centered Therapy Principles to Treating Adults with Dysregulation, with Georgia DeGangi and Marc Nemiroff. And be sure to save the date for the next Scientific Day, another free conference on January 28, courtesy of Janet Dante. See below for more information.

This month's issue of Connections features a report from Leslie Kent, our Associate Director for Education, with important information about study group openings, and another thoughtful blog post from our veteran blogger, Trish Cleary. We also have a stirring description of Ruth Ann Stoltzfus's week assisting refugees on the Greek island of Chios. If you have clinical experiences in the community and in the wider world that you wish to include in the newsletter, please email me and Nancy.

Yours,

A Week in a Refugee Camp
Ruth Ann Stoltzfus

Children's Drawings

On July 27, 2016 I arrived on the island of Chios, a 45-minute flight by propeller plane from Athens to the island heralded as the birthplace of the ancient poet Homer. I have come to join the Norwegian Non-Governmental agency and charity, A Drop in The Ocean, which aids refugees encamped on the shores of this island.

Standing in the fishing port of Souda, I can look across the Aegean Sea to the coastline of Turkey-some six miles away. It is from these shores that the refugees have come in small wooden and tube boats. A medieval fort stretches from this harbor along the coastline between the sea and the town of Chios. The fort is "crumbling grand" with its turret and ridged walls. Stretched between this artifact and the street of the town lie the refugee camps of Souda and Depitea, numbering some 1,500 plus people.

The refugees are primarily from Syria but also from Afghanistan and Iraq. They are doctors, shopkeepers, housewives, lawyers, twenty-somethings and many babies and children of every age. Some are highly literate and some are not literate in their own language. What they do have in common is the long, long wait for the interviews, the list in Greece some 10,000 long, that will determine whether they can go on to another country or will be returned to...

The Power of the Adult Child's Shame-filled Secrets Trish Cleary

Emotional distance caused by secret shame can be reversed with heartfelt attention.

Clare's therapy continued. (See July's post). She was happy to report that things were going well between her and Charles. She noted, however, that her confusion about her mother's reaction to the whole Charles situation persisted. "I asked my mom if we could talk about what has been going on between us; she cried but then said nothing. While she's always been somewhat distant, this is different. I can't find a way to connect with her and I am scared for her and for me." I commented to Clare that because of her work crisis, until now we haven't had the time to discuss her relationship with her mother. I said, "I am interested in learning about your childhood and family." Clare shared her history...

39th Annual IAPSP Conference on The Psychology of The Self
October 20 -23, 2016

Co-Sponsored by

Critical Clinical Moments in the Treatment Process

Boston, Massachusetts, USA
October 20 -23, 2016
Omni Parker House

Conference Co-chairs: Richard Geist and Judith Guss Teicholz

Now that affectively charged dyadic interactions in the treatment are recognized as carriers of what's curative in psychoanalysis, the sharing of clinical process among colleagues – or between student therapists and their teachers – soars in importance. Kohut emphasized the essential feedback loop between the clinical and the theoretical but insisted that we start and end with the clinical exchange. In this conference we follow his lead by highlighting presentations that emphasize critical clinical moments and processes representing turning points for better or worse. For it's in the clinical moments that windows of possibility can either open or close-that the direction taken can tend either toward the destructive or become positively transformative.

Developmental Psychotherapy Across the Lifespan: Integrating Child-Centered Therapy Principles to Treating Adults with Dysregulation

Georgia DeGangi and Marc Nemiroff

Saturday, November 5, 2016 Silver Spring Civic Building at Veterans Plaza
Registration: 8:30-9am One Veterans Place
Program: 9am-12:30pm Silver Spring, MD 20910

This half-day workshop is designed for clinicians interested in applying developmental psychotherapy to the treatment of adults with disorders of self-regulation and/or experiences of trauma. These individuals are highly sensitive to stimulation from the environment, emotionally reactive, and have difficulty maintaining relationships and an organized, regulated lifestyle. Drs. DeGangi and Nemiroff will present child-centered therapy, a technique that focuses on the process of self-regulation, affect attunement, emotional communication, attachment, and relational knowing. They will give an example of child-centered therapy as applied to a disengaged mother-infant dyad with a highly irritable infant. Dr. DeGangi and Dr. Nemiroff will each present an in-depth case of adults with severe dysregulation and psychically active childhood trauma. The treatment in both cases exemplifies the application of developmental psychotherapy to the adult population.

Continuing education credit: 3 CE credits available for full attendance. The Institute of Contemporary Psychotherapy and Psychoanalysis (ICP+P) is approved by the American Psychological Association to sponsor continuing education for psychologists. ICP+P maintains responsibility for this program and its content. ICP+P is approved by the Maryland Board of Social Work Examiners to offer Category I continuing education credit. Because ICP+P has approval from the Maryland Board, CE credit hours awarded by ICP+P may also be claimed by social workers licensed in Virginia and the District of Columbia. These continuing education credits meet the ANCC approval standards for nurses and the approved standards for marriage and family therapists. Attendees from the above professional groups will earn 3 CE credits for attending the conference. Full attendance is required to receive the designated CE credit. ICP+P is accredited by MedChi, the Maryland State Medical Society to provide continuing medical education for physicians. ICP+P designates this educational activity for a maximum of 3 AMA PRA Category 1 Credit(s)™. Physicians should only claim credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

Alice Kassabian Memorial Conference: Reflections on Wisdom ~ Its Nature, Value, and Relevance to Contemporary Practice
Nancy McWilliams

Saturday, November 05, 2016 | 9:00 AM - 12:30 PM
Cosmos Club: 2121 Massachusetts Avenue NW, Washington DC

Dr. McWilliams will explore the reciprocal relationship between wisdom and psychotherapy with emphasis on the clinical implications of valuing wisdom. The social, interdependent nature of wisdom differs from that of knowledge, which can be pursued in relative isolation. A Clinical Case presentation will illustrate.

Since ancient time, philosophers have differentiated between being smart and being wise. More recently, some authors and mental health professionals have tried to specify what we mean by wisdom - a virtue often viewed as the consolation prize for getting old and typically experienced vs. coming to the self rather than being actively pursued.

Wisdom seems to require acknowledgement of limitation and mortality, while fantasies often are limitless and immorality may propel searches for knowledge. Professional incentives often reward knowledge at the expense of wisdom: hypothesis-testing tends to be privileged over hypothesis-generation; master of techniques may be valued over nuanced understanding of one person to whom the techniques are applied.

For information and tickets: 80gala@wspdc.org.

Michael Wannon (Chair, ICP+P's Couples Program) will be presenting at the American Academy of Psychotherapists' 61st Annual Institute and Conference on Saturday October, 22nd, 2016. The 3 hour presentation will address the clinical challenge of working with "The Platonic Marriage" - as defined by Dr.

Wannon as a couple whose sexual life has ceased to exist, or where sex is extremely rare and problematic.

The presentation will have three parts:

1. a clinical presentation where Dr. Wannan will simulate a session with such a couple (played by ICP+P members Angie Snyder & Aaron Bourne)
2. an exploration of participant reactions to the material, and exploration of theoretical concepts from both Object Relations & Self Psychology
3. an opportunity for participants to discuss their own couples cases with the context of sexual impasses.

The conference will be held at the Omni Shoreham Hotel in Washington, and for more information on the conference you can go to the following website: <https://www.aapweb.com/aad/ev/ic2016brochure.pdf>.

Bulletin Board

- Rob Williams, a Certified Group Therapist, is offering a biweekly experiential consultation group focused on group therapy. This group will be a combination of case presentations and journal article readings. This is an opportunity for clinicians leading groups or actively planning to start a group to gain first-hand insight into group dynamics to be able to work more comfortably and effectively.

Cases presented in a supervision group are worked with by association through the parts that are stimulated in the group members. This parallel material is then used to gain insight into what has taken place in the case presented and inform future interventions, helping to move past "stuckness" and enhance group functioning. The group will meet biweekly at 1801 Connecticut Ave NW, on Fridays, 9 - 11 am. The group will begin in October or November 2016. Group participation can be used to fulfill the requirement for group psychotherapy supervision to become a Certified Group Psychotherapist (CGP). Contact Rob Williams for information: 202-455-5546, rob.williams.msw@gmail.com, or this website.

- A study group on Intensive Short Term Dynamic Psychotherapy is looking for more members to commence our meetings. ISTDP is an attachment based psychodynamic model of working which emphasizes healthy emotional experiencing of unconscious affect. It offers methods to focus and intensify the therapeutic process. We will use Jon Frederickson's Co-Creating Change; Effective Dynamic Therapy Techniques as a text. This meeting has been planned for the second Friday of the month between 11:00AM-12:30 PM. It may be possible to be flexible with the time or day of this group. If you are interested in learning more, please contact Margo Silberstein at margosil@aol.com.
- ICP+P just launched our four-weekend Institute on Embodying the Unspoken Self and an exciting writing opportunity has arisen. Kristin Staroba, editor of Voices, the journal of the American Academy of Psychotherapists, has invited our submissions for their upcoming edition on the body in therapy. AAP focuses on the person of the therapist, and as such they encourage that dimension in writing. As an added bonus, accepted work could also be reprinted on our website, as long as it carries an attribution to Voices. Voices welcomes submissions in the form of personal essay, research- and case-based inquiry, poetry, art, and photography. Please direct questions and submissions to Editor Kristin Staroba (kristin.staroba@gmail.com). See Submission Guidelines on the AAP website.
- Openings for a female, age 30+, in a diverse, mixed gender, ongoing, process-oriented psychotherapy group lead by Karen Eberwein and Michael Stiers. The group is comprised of individuals who have struggled to maintain satisfying relationships, feel anxious about fitting in, want to develop more self awareness, and desire more meaningful connections with others. We meet in Dupont Circle at 1350 Connecticut Ave, NW, Suite 405, on Tuesdays from 12-1:20 pm. Contact Karen Eberwein for information 202-409-7774 or keberwein@hotmail.com.

- Full time office for rent in downtown Silver Spring. Congenial suite of colleagues, including social workers, psychiatrist, and psychologist. Potential for referrals from within the suite. Attractive waiting room; kitchen w/ fridge, microwave and lunch table. Wheelchair accessible. Well-maintained professional building with responsive on-site management and maintenance. Popular local cafe located on lobby level. Rent includes utilities and cleaning services. Office wired for connection to Internet. Secure weekend and evening access. Many well-established mental health and medical professionals in building. Abundant public parking; short walk from Silver Spring Metro. Private parking lot also available, adjacent to building. Contact Melinda Salzman, (301) 585-7352, melinda@salzmanmsw.com, or Franca Posner, (301) 466-3966, fsposner@gmail.com.
- Gwen Pla is seeking members for a psychotherapy group for emotional eaters. Gwen is an advanced candidate in the Psychoanalytic Training Program, a graduate of the Group Training Program at the Washington School of Psychiatry and a retired nutrition professor at Howard University. The group will meet in Silver Spring on Tuesday evenings. For screening interviews, have potential participants call Gwen at 202 723-1772.
- Mixed Group and Men's Group have openings. Mixed group for adults of all ages, any gender; men's group for self-identified men. All cultures welcome. Both groups are supportive and focus on relationships with self and others. Leader is Certified Group Psychotherapist with 25 years' experience, including collaboration with individual therapists of clients seen in group. Both groups meet at 6 pm weekly in Downtown Silver Spring. Insurance/Sliding Scale. Contact Jonathan Lebolt at 240-507-7696, Therapy@Doctor-Jon.com or www.Doctor-Jon.com.
- Beautiful DuPont Circle Office Available to Rent in the Corcoran House Building at the corner of 18th and Corcoran Sts. NW, all day Fridays + additional half day on Tuesdays, starting October 1. Spacious, recently painted and re-decorated, a sunny office, waiting room and private bathroom. Many other amenities available, including wi-fi and fax. Excellent location, 2 blocks from DuPont Circle metro. 2 parking spaces available (1 inside bldg. and 1 outside for patients). If interested, please contact Sarah Pillsbury by email, pillsburysarah@gmail.com or by telephone at (202) 904-7510. Thank you.
- Looking for full time office in any of the following DC locations: Georgetown, Dupont Circle, West End, Foggy Bottom. Also possible: Wisconsin Ave corridor as far north as Tenleytown, or Connecticut Ave corridor as far north as Van Ness. Prefer office in suite with other mental health professionals. Also, could be independent office with space for waiting room, and access to restroom. Contact E. Sandler: etls17@verizon.net.
- Bread For The City, a medical and social service agency serving poor and homeless people in Washington, DC has requested help in providing pro-bono evaluations for people who come to them seeking help in applying for asylum in the United States. They report that they are getting increased numbers of requests for evaluations from newly arrived people who are seeking protection in the US. If you have the skills to provide this service and would like to join a few others who periodically provide pro-bono evaluations for asylum, please contact Jeffrey Jay at jeffjayphd@aol.com or 202-362-0063

- Deborah Fox, a Certified Sex Therapist, is offering a monthly consultation group focused on sexuality in couples therapy. This group will be a combination of didactic material and case presentations. This would be an opportunity for clinicians not trained in sex therapy to discuss cases and gain knowledge and skills in the area of sexuality and be able to work more comfortably and effectively. Common topics may include fundamental principles of improving sexual functioning for both men and women; understanding the underlying sexual dynamics in a relationship and helping couples re-start or improve their sexual relationship; the role of anxiety in sexuality and how to work with it; the impact of early trauma, breaches of trust, and aging. The group will meet at 4600 Connecticut Ave NW, on Wednesdays, 1:30 - 3:30 pm, cost is $560 for the seven sessions. The group will begin on Oct. 19 and end on Apr 5. CE's will be offered for a fee of $15. A group may also be offered on Thursday evening in Dupont Circle. Contact Deborah Fox for information - 202-363-1740 or debfox2@verizon.net.
- Bethesda: Furnished office, 10' X 10' with window, available full time in building near parking garages and Metro. Suite has waiting room, kitchen, WiFi, and a friendly group of practitioners who enjoy sharing the suite. If interested, contact Monica Callahan at 301 587 6211 or Callahanml@erols.com.
