

The Golden Allure of Celebrity: Reflections by a Psychoanalyst/Musician about Boundary Crossing in Psychoanalysis and Music Featuring Julie Jaffee Nagel, PhD

Saturday, December 3, 2022
9:00 am-12:30 pm EST

Virtual Event
Online Zoom Webinar
3 CEs

Celebrities have charisma, charm, and talent. Dr. Nagel will explore how the allure of celebrity in music may provide fertile ground for sexual, erotic, and romantic boundary crossings in the teacher and student dyad. The same dynamic may occur in other dyads in which there is a power differential, such as therapist and patient or supervisor and supervisee. The psychological and institutional fallout from such boundary crossings is powerful, shameful, and harmful to everyone involved.

This conference addresses the “elephant in the room,” that enactments typically are met with silence and not addressed. Dr. Nagel will illustrate lessons learned from an interaction among a celebrity, a colleague, and herself. How to give voice to these moments, how to process the multiple layers of experience will be examined in her presentation.

In the second half of the conference, smaller breakout groups and a larger group discussion will connect Dr. Nagel’s reflections to participants’ own clinical experiences with patients. This may include issues of transference/countertransference and power dynamics related to differences in culture, race, sexual orientation, etc.

At the conclusion of this conference, participants will be able to:

1. Explain the dynamic created when the attraction of powerful individuals leads to people being silenced.
2. Analyze the underlying determinants and temptations that may lead to boundary crossings of all kinds.
3. Describe instances of institutional and/or personal repercussions of crossing boundaries in psychoanalytic/psychodynamic training and/or treatment.

*This conference is appropriate for clinicians at all levels of experience and offers 3 CEs.
The Conference will take place remotely via Zoom.*
